

Women's Work: Women on the Railways

22 February, 7:00pm

A talk by Dr Becky Peacock,
Outreach and Interpretation Officer,
Canadian Pacific Project Mid Hants
Railway Ltd, 'Watercress Line'.

Alresford station staff
May 1946

Did you know that the Watercress Line's magnificent flagship steam locomotive, Canadian Pacific, would have had women working on it? Starting in 1820 with the building of the railways, this talk explores the changing roles of women in the building, maintenance and running of Britain's railways. Referencing the employment of women in times of war and afterwards, the talk includes a showing of the film Ladies Only, courtesy of the Imperial War Museum.
